Angelina set up Maddox's date, and Brad prepped him on how to treat a young lady

ANGIE PLAYS MATCHMAKER for Maddox, 11

ANGELINA JOLIE's son Maddox is only 11, but he's already started dating – after his mom played Cupid.

He's gone on a date with the daughter of a family friend and had so much fun he's planning a second one.

"Maddox really enjoyed himself," an insider told The ENQUIRER.

"First they went to a burger joint and then a movie, chaperoned by a bodyguard.

"EVERYONE'S BEING tight-lipped about the girl since they don't want to turn her life into a three-ring circus. She's 12, has dark hair and loves soccer."

Cambodian-born Maddox met her at a party, and it was instant puppy love.

"They swapped cell phone numbers and kept in touch, texting each other nonstop," said the source.

Brad and Angie didn't find out about the girl until Maddox's 9-year-old brother Pax turned tattletale and told them his older sibling was texting a girl.

"First thing Angie did was get a hold of Maddox's cell phone and made sure their conversations were appropriate," revealed the source.

Jolie-Pitt son GETS A GIRLFRIEND

"Once she realized it was all innocent fun, she asked him if he wanted to spend some time with the girl.

"Maddox jumped at the chance, so Angie called up the girl's parents and made sure it was OK. And Brad schooled him on how to treat a young lady, to open the door for her and have good table manners.

"Now Maddox is ready for a second date and has come up with a list of things to do – bowling, a ball game, a day at Universal Studios – whatever the young lady wants."

Palin kid WANTS TO GIVE MOM A MAKEOVER

Willow recently completed a hairdressing program and wants Sarah to be her first client

Sarah's style is out of date, thinks Willow

SARAH PALIN's daughter Willow is convinced her mom needs a new image, and she's now got the training to do it.

Willow, 18, recently completed a hairdressing program at Penrose Academy in Scottsdale, Ariz. She's planning on opening her own salon, says a source, and wants Mom to be her first customer.

"Willow thinks Sarah's appearance is old and tired. She wants to give her mother a fresh, new hairstyle – something that will make her look younger," a source revealed.

"Sarah's been reluctant to change her look because it's so identifiable. But Willow is convinced she can win her mom over."

> 'Sarah's been reluctant to change her look because it's so identifiable.'

The 49-year-old Republican pundit and former vice-presidential hopeful revealed on her Facebook page that Willow – the middle of her three daughters – chose to go into the beauty business because she thought it would "make her happy and provide her with a good income in today's economy."

SARAH ADDED THAT WILLOW entered the cosmetology course after finishing her high school requirements early. The $19,500 program, Sarah explained, "allowed her to visit the sets of major media productions and work with the best of the best in the industry."

According to Sarah, Willow has "a great career ahead of her doing something she loves in a recession-proof industry (everyone needs their hair cut after all!)."

Willow used money she earned for appearing on sister Bristol's reality show, "Bristol Palin: Life's a Tripp," as well as her mother's TLC reality show, "Sarah Palin's Alaska," to pay for beauty school, says the source.

"Now, she wants to kick off her career – and salon – by giving Sarah a whole new look."

KHLOE'S BIZARRE PLOT TO HELP O.J.

The Juice is ready to accept Khloe's unexpected offer

She wants Simpson to live with her – if he walks free from prison

IN a final desperate bid to determine if O.J. Simpson is her real father, Khloe Kardashian has invited the disgraced football great to live with her when he's freed from prison – and O.J. has accepted.

In a bombshell ENQUIRER exclusive, sources reveal that Khloe has thrown open her Tarzana, Calif., home to Simpson – and her shocking decision has rocked her already shaky marriage to Lamar Odom.

But Lamar had better get used to the idea because O.J. could be a free man in just days!

IN A MAY 13 LAS VEGAS COURT hearing, a judge will consider evidence to decide if the fallen idol should get a new trial. Simpson was convicted in 2008 of armed robbery and kidnapping after breaking into a hotel room to retrieve memorabilia.

Khloe's Tarzana, Calif., mansion

"If O.J. gets a new trial, he will be eligible for bail and set free until the new trial date," an insider told The ENQUIRER.

"O.J. really has no place to go if the judge frees him. He told Khloe he would be honored to live with the family but only until he gets on his feet."

Although the athlete receives $28,000 a month from his football pension, much of that goes for hefty lawyers' fees and to help support his offspring, who apparently haven't offered to take him in.

Last year, the financially strapped felon lost his Miami home to foreclosure, and he's amassed a crushing $580,000 in state and federal tax liens.

To make matters worse, the former running back has also slipped physically and mentally.

"He's gained weight from starchy prison food," said the source. "Except for watching football on TV, he's turned his mind off to the outside world just to cope with being in prison."

Khloe feels close to O.J., who has phoned her from prison.

As The ENQUIRER reported, the football star claimed to pals that he had an affair with his best buddy Robert Kardashian's then-wife Kris in 1983 and seems to be convinced it resulted in her pregnancy with Khloe.

Up until his death in 2003, Kardashian firmly believed he was not the biological father of Khloe, who doesn't look like her sisters Kim or Kourtney.

Over time, as a source told The ENQUIRER: "O.J. has been saying repeatedly that he's Khloe's real father and they have developed a bond while he's been in prison. Maybe Khloe feels it's time for him to take a paternity test."

Now it appears O.J., who's already been convicted in a wrongful death suit over the slaying of his ex-wife Nicole and her friend Ron Goldman, may become responsible for a new tragedy – the unraveling of Khloe's marriage.

Lamar Odom

"Khloe and Lamar are fighting about her invitation to O.J.," said a family friend. "Lamar is livid, but Khloe thinks it would be the perfect opportunity to get answers about O.J.'s past relationship with her mother.

"Lamar says Khloe is being ridiculous, not to mention it would be embarrassing to have one of the most hated men in America living in their home."

The 28-year-old reality star and the 33-year-old NBA player, who tied the knot in 2009, have been struggling with fertility problems "and have been desperately trying to keep their marriage intact," said the friend.

"The last thing they need is to have O.J. Simpson living in their home."

Anne Hathaway DRUG SHOCKER

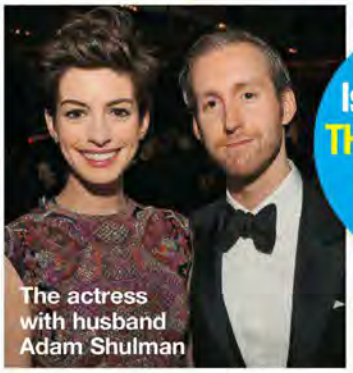
Squeaky-clean beauty CAUGHT SMOKING SUSPICIOUS-LOOKING CIGARETTE

Adam takes a hit off a pot pipe in West Hollywood last August

GOODY two-shoes Oscar winner Anne Hathaway is caught up in an eye-popping drug shocker!

In a series of bombshell photographs seen by The ENQUIRER, the "Les Miserables" star smokes what looks like a huge hand-rolled marijuana cigarette during her honeymoon last October.

The bleary-eyed actress, 30, also drapes herself over another man and shows off a mouthful of partially chewed food in the career-shaking pictures.



The actress with husband Adam Shulman

Is she UNDER THE INFLUENCE of bad-boy hubby?

"IN ONE PHOTO ANNE IS SEEN puffing on what appears to be a massive marijuana blunt with her arms wrapped around an unidentified man," a source who saw the photos told The ENQUIRER. "The guy is red-eyed and laughing, and they're both wearing Mardi Gras party beads. It's clear they're having a great time partying."

Another photo shows a droopy-eyed Anne sitting at a dinner table holding what looks to be a marijuana joint, the source said. And with a huge glass of white wine in front of her, she makes a face for the camera. In a third photo, the "Dark Knight Rises" beauty poses with the Mardi Gras beads across her face.

"Anne isn't wearing any makeup, her eyes are red, and her pupils are dilated and glassy," said the source. "She looks like she's been partying."

In the final photo, Anne's mouth is wide open and stuffed with partially chewed food.

"It's disgusting," said the source. "Anne seems to have a case of the 'munchies.' "Although she likes to project a goody-goody image, these photos are not at all what you'd expect from the prim and proper person Anne tries to portray in her public life."

Friends worry about the influence of husband Adam Shulman, 32.

THE ACTOR-TURNED-JEWELRY DESIGNER WAS photographed taking a hit from a marijuana pipe in West Hollywood on Aug. 12.

"He has a degree in theater and resents that he can't get a break while Anne and their mutual friends are so successful. He's a terribly unhappy and troubled guy. Everyone's hoping Anne will ditch him."

HOLLYWOOD heartthrob Johnny Depp is caught between wild-child beauty Amber Heard and his ex-fiancee Winona Ryder!

In TinselTown's latest love triangle, Amber has demanded Depp take their romance public, while Winona is secretly plotting to win him back, sources say.

"Amber has hit Johnny with an ultimatum: 'Go public with our romance – or it's over!'" a close friend told The ENQUIRER.

"She even went back to her lesbian lover for a while, and now Johnny is frantically talking to his team about the best way for them to 'come out' as a couple.

"MEANTIME, WINONA IS DOING everything she can to orchestrate a hook-up with Johnny!"

Depp, 49, fell for leggy blonde Amber, 27, while they were filming "The Rum Diary," in 2009. She dumped her then-girlfriend, Hawaiian-born artist Tasya Van Ree, for the "Pirates of the Caribbean" star.

The two grew closer after Depp ended his 14-year relationship with French singer/actress Vanessa Paradis in June 2012. But he's stubbornly kept their affair under wraps.

"Amber has been at Johnny to go public since the beginning of the year," said the source.

"When he balked, she walked out on him and went back to Tasya, and Johnny totally freaked out! Amber's become the major organizer of his crazy world and he couldn't cope without her. He bombarded Amber with calls and gifts, and even wrote her a song, begging her to come back. But she stood her ground until he relented to go public."

Now Depp is considering appearing with Amber at the Kentucky Derby, or the premiere of his film, "The Lone Ranger," in July, sources say.

Meanwhile, it's been 20 years since Depp and Winona, 41, ended their rocky relationship, but she still holds a torch for him, sources say.

The two met at the 1989 premiere of "Great Balls of Fire," and got engaged the following year while filming director Tim Burton's hit "Edward Scissorhands."

A smitten Depp had "Winona Forever" tattooed on his arm, but changed the tat to "Wino Forever" after their bitter 1993 split.

WINONA FADED INTO NEAR obscurity after her highly publicized 2001 shoplifting bust. But in a comeback bid, she played a ballerina in the 2010 drama "Black Swan," and voiced a lead character in Tim Burton's animated 2012 film "Frankenweenie." Her next project, "Homefront," will be released in 2014.

Vanessa Paradis

"In hindsight, Winona realizes she and Johnny were too young and immature to make their romance work," a source told The ENQUIRER.

"But now that they're both 20 years older and wiser, Winona believes there's hope they can rekindle their romance. She's even dropped hints to their mutual friend, Tim Burton, about arranging a date or even developing a film project for them."

Another source added: "Both Winona and Amber are crazy about Johnny, and they both know that being by his side would help their careers."

Childless woman gives birth at 44 – AND SHE DIDN'T EVEN KNOW SHE WAS PREGNANT

Linda Ackley says daughter Kimberly is a miracle baby

NEWBORN Kimberly Kay Ackley has a tiny T-shirt that says: "Mommy's Little Miracle" – and here's why.

Her mom, Linda Ackley, 44, went to the hospital thinking she had a hernia and wound up having a baby instead.

"Who can make this up?" proud dad Mike Ackley, 45, said. "Some people have nine months to prepare. I had hours."

The Jackson, Mich., couple were high school sweethearts who'd been married for 24 years. Despite their best efforts, they'd yet to be blessed with a baby. And in February 2011, the chances of them ever having children got worse. Linda contracted necrotizing fasciitis, a bacterial infection that attacks soft tissue.

Proud papa Mike Ackley holds the baby that popped unexpectedly into his life

HER IMMUNE SYSTEM STARTED TO SHUT DOWN, she went into a coma for a week and wound up on a ventilator. Some of the muscles in her stomach had to be removed. Mike said the doctors told him she might not make it. But Linda survived and declared: "God wanted me here for something."

Mike thought it was a miracle that Linda made it through that ordeal. He had no idea another miracle was on the way.

A few months ago, Linda began feeling what she thought was contracting stomach muscles and twitching nerves caused by her surgery. She had no reason to suspect she was pregnant because she hadn't put on significant weight, and her menstrual cycle had always been irregular. But that twitching was actually little Kimberly kicking around inside her.

On Feb. 8, Linda went to the doctor because she had some bloating in her abdomen. She thought she had a hernia and the doctor sent her for a CT scan. But it was no hernia. It was Kimberly – and she was ready to enter the world! Mike got the call. "I was happy and shocked at the same time," he said.

A C-section was performed at an Allegiance Health hospital facility, and Kimberly was born at 11:20 p.m., weighing a whopping 10 pounds, 1 ounce. Three days later, the proud parents took their beautiful daughter home. They made a stop at the Jackson County Courthouse, where Mike works as a security guard.

AS HE PROUDLY CARRIED KIMBERLY AROUND the hallways, his co-workers applauded, told him how beautiful his daughter is and commented on the baby's full head of dark hair.

The new parents then took Kimberly home. Seeing how they didn't know a baby was on the way, they had none of the necessities needed to take care of her. But good people came to the rescue. The car seat that Kimberly occupied on the way home from the hospital was a gift from a cousin.

Clothing Carousel, a consignment shop, donated two bags of clothes. Friends and family members purchased other baby needs, including Kimberly's "Mommy's Little Miracle" T-shirt.

"She is our miracle baby," said Linda.

BLOODBATH

KILLERS

BOMB PLANS

Drawings of how to make pressure cooker bombs – the same kind the Tsarnaev siblings used at the Boston Marathon – were discovered during a raid at a terrorist camp in Gimry, Russia

THE Boston Marathon bombers were part of a secret terrorist cell plotting to unleash a massive campaign of death and destruction on major American cities including New York and Washington, D.C., an ENQUIRER investigation reveals.

The tragedy that stunned America left four dead and 183 injured – but the devastation could have been far worse because the two brothers accused in the attack were allegedly part of an army of hell-bent jihadist warriors.

"Clearly these two brothers were sleeper agents just waiting for the word to attack U.S. citizens," espionage expert Paul Huebl told The ENQUIRER.

"We know they got training about how to build these bombs and where to leave them to do the most possible damage."

Huebl, a former Chicago cop who investigated the Baader-Meinhof terror cell when he was in the army in Germany, added: "These guys were obviously reporting to a highly trained jihadist at a terrorist camp in America.

"The younger one was wearing Louis Vuitton shoes that cost $900 and Tamerlan drove a Mercedes, yet neither of them had a job. Who was paying them? Who paid for Tamerlan to go to Russia for six months of terror training? And who were his handlers here in the states? It takes a lot of money to buy all the firepower these guys had."

In the wake of the Boston attack, more than 1,000 government agents fanned out to find a terrorist "sleeper cell" they believe is living secretly here in the U.S. There are a dozen members out there somewhere and the Tsarnaev brothers are thought to be members of the kill squad.

The U.S.-hating group plans to strike fear into the hearts of Americans, said sources.

There are indications the U.S. Government is hiding other details about the Boston bombings to minimize fear and anger from citizens. A Justice Department source confirmed Tamerlan fell completely off the FBI's radar, even though he was questioned before – and after – a 2012 trip to Russia.

Authorities also have information that an "Al-Qaeda secret cell operating in the U.S. was planning something big," plots that include terrorist attacks on several cities.

MOVING SWIFTLY, NOW THE FBI PICKED UP TWO men for questioning about 60 miles from Boston shortly after the blazing April 19 gun battle with alleged bombers Tamerlan Tsarnaev, 26, and his 19-year-old brother Dzhokhar.

The men were friends of the younger Tsarnaev brother and drove a BMW with a fake front plate that read "Terrorista # 1."

Sources told The ENQUIRER that had the bloodthirsty brothers not been stopped, they would have proceeded to attack other East Coast cities, including our nation's capital and New York, the home of our financial system.

"In New York, they likely would have targeted a crowded street in or around Times Square or a busy place like Grand Central (train) station, or even Wall Street itself," declared a Justice Department insider. "In D.C., they might have set off bombs at Amtrak's Union Station or outside the White House. These guys were brazen – they thought nothing could stop them!"

After the deadly shootout, Boston police discovered that the two brothers had an incredible arsenal of weapons with them – including multiple handguns, a rifle, 250 rounds of ammunition and at least six homemade bombs.

Boston Police Commissioner Ed Davis declared: "We have reason to believe, based upon the evidence that was found at that scene – the explosions, the explosive ordnance that was unexploded and the firepower they had – that they were going to attack other individuals."

Before coming to the United States nearly a decade ago, the brothers had lived in Russia's strife-torn Dagestan Republic and Kyrgyzstan.

Concerned about Tamerlan's interest in Islamic extremists in his native country – and his planned trip to his homeland – the Russian government asked the FBI to interview him two years ago. U.S. agents determined Tamerlan was not a threat.

The young man, however, was upset about being quizzed and "wanted revenge," the State Department official told The ENQUIRER.

When Tamerlan returned to the Dagestan region for six months in 2012, it is believed that he trained to become a killing machine.

The aspiring terrorist secretly traveled to an Al-Qaeda-run camp in a remote forest location near Dagestan, where fighters learn hand-to-hand combat, marksmanship and how to make bombs.

"Tamerlan was trained by terrorists loyal to Osama bin Laden and connected to self-proclaimed rebel leader Doku Umarov, suspected of masterminding a 2010 attack on the Moscow subway that killed at least 40," said the Justice Department source.

Dmitry Pavlov of Russia's National Antiterrorism Committee told The ENQUIRER it's also likely Tamerlan trained at a recently raided radical camp in the village of Gimry, Russia. "Their laboratory was organized right in the village mosque, and some of their notebooks vividly described how to make a bomb."

There were also timing devices present, said Pavlov, "a type that may have been used in Boston."

When Tamerlan returned from Russia to the U.S. in July 2012, he visited New York before heading to Boston.

"While in New York, he probably scouted locations for terror attacks," said the Justice Department source.

As an aspiring boxer, Tamerlan also traveled to other metropolitan areas, including Salt Lake City, Utah. "The boxing may have been a cover to allow him to scope out potential targets," said the source.

ESPIONAGE EXPERT HUEBL NOTED THAT "it takes a lot of money to buy all the firepower these guys had. Authorities will do a forensic review of their phones and Internet use to figure out who were their bosses. A lot of heads will roll before this is over."

Investigators say that over time Tamerlan brainwashed his younger brother Dzhokhar with anti-American rhetoric and that they came up with the plot to attack the Boston Marathon.

"Why did they kill? Tamerlan snapped after a series of events in which he realized he couldn't cut it in the greatest country on earth – and he convinced his younger brother to go along with him on a path to destruction," said a Justice Department source. "He wanted revenge against America because he was a failure.

"His mom was arrested in Boston for shoplifting. His marriage was broken up. He had a major chip on his shoulder and turned it against America. He was the ultimate outsider and he hated it."

The brothers' death-dealing plot meshed perfectly with plans to attack U.S. targets recovered from Osama bin Laden's Pakistan compound.

To spread his jihadist message, Tamerlan turned to social media and created a YouTube channel with links to terror-related videos. His channel used the online address "muazseyfullah," which combines the names of two prominent Islamist militant leaders in Russia. Part of the word – "Seyfullah" – also translates as "Sword of Allah."

Lindsay's painful new crisis staring her right in the face!

Scary new crisis for LINDSAY LOHAN, who just made this shocking confession to a close pal: "My teeth are actually rotting! Some are chipped, others are turning brown – and I don't have the money to fix them!" Near tears, the wild-child star blurted her sad news while partying at Madhattan's Le Bain when the friend wordlessly handed over...a mint. Visibly upset, she asked: "Does my breath smell that bad?" The friend nodded and "Lindsay looked like she was ready to cry," said my source. "With all her problems, she now has something else to worry about...her teeth! She just doesn't have the money to see a dentist and fix them. And weirdly, she blamed her shocking condition on 'too many sodas!'" Lindsay's million-dollar smile started fading noticeably some two years ago, when she showed up on red carpets flashing a rotten-toothed smile. In late 2011, a dental expert inspecting photos of her decaying choppers told RadarOnline that "smoking wouldn't cause the decay and browning you see around the gums. Damage like that is something we see in patients who are using or have used drugs." NOTE: In October 2011, Lindsay told the press she'd had her teeth whitened, and flashed a bright new smile. But her admission that her teeth are "actually rotting" indicates trouble's still brewing behind the flashy facade. Lindsay's been in rehab five times for drug and alcohol abuse, and she's headed back again. So even if she could afford to fix her teeth, they'll quickly rot again, unless...

■ Exiting swanky eatery Ivy at the Shore, AL PACINO blinked in shock when a drunk walking ahead of him suddenly keeled over and crashed to the floor. Quickly helping El Blotto to his feet, Al asked: "You're not driving, are you?" That's when a woman with the guy spoke up, slurring her words as she assured the star: "No, but it's okay – I am!" Rolling his eyes, Pacino insisted neither of them should get behind the wheel. "It's not just about you," he said. "It's about you possibly killing someone else." Refusing to take "no" for an answer, he walked them to his waiting limo, ordering his chauffeur to drive them to their Santa Monica home, then come back and pick him up. (Moral of Al's story? Don't drive drunk – drive DRUNKS!)

■ JESSICA SIMPSON totally blew her blonde stack when she arrived at her newly purchased home in a swanky San Fernando Valley gated community – and discovered nosy rubber-neckers strolling around inside! "Jessica had just bought the house from ex-'America's Got Talent' judge SHARON OSBOURNE and rocker hubby OZZY, and is totally renovating the interior," said My San Fernando Spy. "The house was open, with more than a dozen workers coming in and out, so the neighbors just decided they'd have a look – not expecting to come face to face with a furious star." Jessica, who'd popped by to meet with her decorator, barked angrily at the brazen looky-loos: "Who ARE you people?" When they said they were just neighbors having a look around, Jessica told them: "You're trespassing – get off my property!" Nosy Neighbors left pronto, and Jessica quickly complained to the community's gate guards. Told she'd have to hire private security guards to patrol her property, Jessica did just that – so the fun's over, peek-a-boo people!

■ NEWS FLASH! Just heard from ENQUIRER reader LYNN MENNA, runner-up in "The Power Trip" contest, who says: "Here's my scoop for the week: My Young Adult novel 'Piece of My Heart' has made it to 'Seventeen' magazine's online list of 'Must Read' books for summer. Tell JACKIE COLLINS that I'm coming up fast behind her!" I will, Lynn – and congratulations! (ENQUIRER readers ROCK!!)

■ Lunching at Chateau Marmont with pals, EVA LONGORIA abruptly burst into tears when one mentioned he'd watched her new reality show "Ready for Love" – and loved it! Sobbed Eva: "Well, no one else did! I can't believe it bombed!" How bad was it? NBC scheduled the show right after megahit "The Voice," hoping to retain its 13 million viewers...but nearly 10 million tuned right out! "This show means everything to Eva," said a source close to the former "Desperate Housewives" star. "Not only is she executive producer, she handpicked the three bachelors personally. The show's her baby." Eva wept all through lunch, reports My Marmont Spy, then exited dabbing at her eyes with Kleenex.

■ Always knew "SNL" star JASON SUDEIKIS was a cool tool – that's why he landed super-hot fiancee OLIVIA WILDE – so my fave funnyguy knew just what to do when he and Sweetie strolled into one of their favorite LA eateries and immediately spotted his ex-wife, "30 Rock" writer KAY CANNON, sitting at THEIR fave table with her new hubby! Instantly, Jason grabbed Olivia's hand, walked out and hailed a cab – then whisked his soon-to-be bride off to the airport and flew her to Las Vegas for wine, dine...and romance!

■ HANKS-Y PANKY: Just heard the hilarious tale of TOM HANKS, enjoying cocktails with pals at a New York watering hole, when he noticed a man at the bar passed out drunk, walked over to see if he was okay – and noticed the guy's cell phone sitting beside him. "Using El Drunko's own phone, Tom snapped a few pics of himself smiling and laughing beside the passed-out guy," said My SpyWitness. "Tom then put the phone in the guy's jacket pocket as he and his pals yukked it up – imagining the poor sap discovering the pics of movie star Tom posing and preening beside him!" (Talk about driving a guy to drink!)

■ ELLEN DEGENERES, wife PORTIA DE ROSSI and bestie JENNIFER ANISTON were enjoying a great girls' night out at Ellen's fave new LA vegan eatery, Crossroads – until the check arrived! Ellen took it, but Jen insisted: "I invited you, and I'm picking up the bill!" Then the two actually started shouting when Ellen insisted that the waiter take her credit card. "Don't you dare take that card," snapped Jen. The ping-ponging continued as the waiter stood in silence, waiting for the "ladies" to battle it out, until Portia finally grabbed the bill, handed it to Jennifer – then turned to Wifey and said calmly: "When someone offers to pay for dinner, a simple 'thank you' is all you need to say." Instantly, Ellen quieted down and said "thank you" to Jen, but insisted that next time, dinner's on her – no questions, NO fighting! ...And how was YOUR week?

Brain disorder hell for beloved comedy star, 87

A MYSTERY illness has brought TV legend Dick Van Dyke to his knees – and he's bravely facing his final days.

The 87-year-old star claims he's suffering from an undiagnosed neurological disorder that's robbed him of sleep and left him fatigued.

Now medical sources tell The ENQUIRER that he could be afflicted with a potentially fatal disease!

"My head bangs every time I lay down," the talented "Mary Poppins" star said in a message on Twitter.

Van Dyke added that he's been plagued by the headaches for the past seven years and undergone numerous tests, but doctors still haven't come up with a diagnosis.

"IT'S VERY TROUBLING TO DICK THAT DOCTORS can't find a reason for the pounding in his head," said a source close to the "Dick Van Dyke Show" star.

"It's been going on for some time and he's concerned that this could kill him. He's worried sick!

"Dick's friends fear he has a brain disorder. They are concerned doctors can't discover what's wrong and are terrified it's going to kill him before they find out."

Despite being exhausted, Van Dyke – whose wife, makeup artist Arlene Silver, is 46 years his junior – still puts on a brave face, said the source.

"Dick shows up each week at a health food store in Malibu and buys a health shake," said the source. "He always waves and smiles even though he doesn't feel like it. Dick isn't about to show his public how he really feels. But he's wondering how much longer this can go on."

News of Van Dyke's debilitating illness surfaced when officials at the 92nd Street Y in New York City sent out a highly unusual media release to announce his April 26 speaking engagement was canceled.

"Due to a medical condition, Mr. Van Dyke is unable to travel to New York for the program," according to the statement.

The ENQUIRER has also learned that Van Dyke called off a New York Friars Club salute in his honor scheduled for April 29.

Meanwhile, Van Dyke's representative confirmed he was ordered to rest at his Malibu home until doctors could determine a "yet-to-be diagnosed neurological disorder."

Van Dyke's symptoms can signal numerous disorders, including three potentially serious disorders, according to Dr. Joseph Maroon, a specialist in diseases of the brain and team neurosurgeon for the NFL's Pittsburgh Steelers. "He may be suffering from a brain tumor, an aneurysm or an infectious disease such as meningitis," Dr. Maroon told The ENQUIRER.

A HORMONE DISORDER IS ANOTHER POSSIBILITY, said Dr. Jerome Spunberg, a radiation oncologist in West Palm Beach, Fla. "To determine what's causing his headaches and fatigue, doctors can order tests including MRIs, brain scans, EEGs and a host of other diagnostic tools," Dr. Spunberg told The ENQUIRER.

But Van Dyke – who also starred in the long-running CBS series "Diagnosis Murder" – said in a message on Twitter: "I've had every test come back that I'm perfectly healthy."

Michael's daughter is defying the wishes of grandmother Katherine

PARIS SPARKS JACKSON WAR

Fury as Michael's girl, 15, DECIDES TO MOVE IN WITH DEBBIE ROWE

Then-couple Michael and Debbie with Prince and Paris

MICHAEL JACKSON's headstrong 15-year-old daughter Paris wants to live with her biological mother, Debbie Rowe – and her grandmother Katherine is furious, say sources.

The late superstar was determined to cut Debbie out of the lives of Paris and her older brother Prince, also born to Debbie, sources say, and Michael even named his mother, now a frail 82 years old, as the children's legal guardian. But Paris is ignoring her father's wishes, insiders say, and growing close to Debbie.

"Paris is very puzzled as to why Debbie was never part of her life," a close source told The ENQUIRER.

"All she knew was that Michael never wanted her to have any contact with Debbie. Now she's on a mission to find out why."

A family source added: "Paris wants to move out of the Jackson compound in Calabasas and live with Debbie.

"After having little contact with her for years, Paris is determined to get to know her real mother. It's infuriating her grandmother."

Debbie worked as a medical assistant in the office of Michael's dermatologist, and agreed to bear his children after he divorced Lisa Marie Presley. She was pregnant with Prince when she married the "Thriller" singer in November 1996.

Michael's kids: Blanket, Paris and Prince

She gave birth to Paris in April 1998, and when the couple divorced in 1999, Debbie surrendered full custody of the two youngsters to Michael in exchange for $8 million and a house in Beverly Hills. Jackson's other child, Blanket, was born to a still-unidentified woman.

The deal allowed her to see Prince and Paris for eight hours every 45 days, but in 2001 she gave up her parental rights.

Debbie sold her Beverly Hills home in 2005, and bought a ranch in rural Palmdale.

"Prince is following his dad's wishes and doesn't want to establish a relationship with Debbie. But Paris has spent a lot of time with Debbie at her ranch, riding horses, and says she wants a normal life living with her," the family insider told The ENQUIRER.

"BUT IT'S REALLY UPSETTING Katherine because she knows Michael would not have approved. He paid Debbie off and made her promise to stay away from the children. Now that he's dead, Debbie is not honoring that agreement, and Katherine is livid!"

At the same time, deeply religious Katherine feels for her grandchildren, sources say.

"Katherine understands Michael's wishes," said the family source. "But she can also see why her grandchildren want to learn more about their mother."

AS shocking new revelations emerge about chaos on the "Today" set, NBC execs have decided the only way to save the war-torn show is to bring back viewer favorite Katie Couric.

The iconic program has been rocked by a new book revealing that top execs hatched a vicious plot – called "Operation Bambi" – to drive co-host Ann Curry off the show by taunting and humiliating her.

Staffers regularly made fun of the veteran newswoman, snubbed her and even made a blooper reel of her on-screen blunders. Co-host Matt Lauer reportedly told a production assistant: "I can't believe I am sitting next to this woman."

Now, with viewers calling for Lauer's ouster for turning on Curry, panicked producers are desperately wooing likable Katie to come back to the show that made her a star, say insiders. "They're calling Katie and begging her to return, saying the morning couch on NBC is where she belongs," revealed an insider. "They want to save Matt and the show."

VIEWERS LOVED KATIE when she worked on "Today" from 1991 to 2006 before spending the next five years at CBS where she got the prestigious assignment of hosting the evening news.

After leaving as anchor, she was delighted to land her own syndicated talk show where she was the boss and could approve the guests and format, say sources.

But she could be

COURIC'S DRAMATIC RETURN TO 'TODAY'

Her bombshell reunion with Matt Lauer

considering the "Today" offer because her afternoon program, which debuted in September 2012, initially ran into ratings problems. "Katie is not happy TV execs she trusted to help her have found other jobs," revealed the insider.

Although Katie's show has been renewed for another season, her ratings are uncertain.

"She's devastated," said the source. "She asked people if they thought they were on a sinking ship."

While she ponders her future, the multitalented broadcaster, 56, continues to get calls almost daily from "Today" staff, hoping to convince her to bolster Matt Lauer, who is struggling to restore his own reputation after his involvement in the Curry scandal.

Recently, the atmosphere on "Today" turned even more toxic after word leaked that NBC had considered replacing Lauer with CNN news mainstay Anderson Cooper.

What's more, the balding anchor recently made headlines, landing on a widely publicized list of "Most Hated Celebrities."

Now Lauer is being dragged through the mud once more by the book "Top of the Morning," a behind-the-scenes look at the morning show wars by "New York Times" reporter Brian Stelter.

Anderson Cooper

The author claims that Lauer and his cohorts made Curry feel bullied during her year-long stint as co-anchor. "She told friends that her final months were a form of professional torture."

"Matt is not happy he needs anyone to save the show because he has such a big ego," a show insider added. "But Matt said if he had to sit next to anyone, it would be Katie, because she's always prepared and she 'gets' him. He would actually welcome Katie back with open arms and he's called Katie to discuss the possibility.

"But she hasn't said yes – yet."

The superstar finds the photo of Angelina very sexy

Pitt doesn't want kids to see her HORSING AROUND!

A DETERMINED Brad Pitt doesn't want anyone else to see Angelina Jolie horsing around.

The actor is desperate to buy up a photo of Angelina, posing topless with a noble steed that's nuzzling her chest!

The photograph, titled "Horseplay," was never published after being snapped by avant-garde photographer David LaChapelle in 2001 for "Rolling Stone" magazine.

But it's now set to headline a sale at London auction house Christie's, where it's expected to fetch between $38,071 and $53,330.

"Brad is prepared to pay whatever it takes to get the photo," a source close to the star of the upcoming thriller "World War Z" told The ENQUIRER.

In the picture, then-25-year-old Angelina giddily throws back her brunette mane, showing off several tattoos, including a tribute to her then-husband Billy Bob Thornton, while holding the bridle of a white horse.

"Brad finds the photo of free-spirited Angie very sexy, although he's not wild about the Billy Bob tattoo on her shoulder," said the source.

"Brad wants to keep the photo for himself but he's also out to protect Angelina's new image as an A-list actress, doting mother and United Nations human rights crusader."

THE PHOTO WILL BE AUCTIONED ALONGSIDE a black and white print of Angelina, 37, and Brad, 49, posing in a photo published in "W" magazine in 2005. It's expected to sell for about $15,000.

It's not the first time Brad was willing to shell out big bucks to protect Angelina's image.

As The ENQUIRER recently reported, Brad was ready to spend $10 million to ensure a set of raunchy photos and a rumored sex tape that Angelina made never see the light of day.

REESE WITHERSPOON started drinking to cope with the stress of her parents' bitter battle in divorce court last year, which included charges that her dad was a bigamist, say sources!

That's the heartbreaking secret behind the "Legally Blonde" star's disorderly conduct arrest in Atlanta on April 19, after her husband, Jim Toth, was busted for DUI.

"Reese struggled with the vicious family feud between her mother and father throughout 2012," said a source close to the "Water for Elephants" actress.

"She has the weight of the world on her shoulders"

"HER MOTHER WAS ACCUSING HER FATHER of bigamy and it sent Reese into a tailspin."

John and Betty Witherspoon separated in 1996, but never officially divorced. In January 2012, John married Tricianne Taylor, then claimed he couldn't remember tying the knot!

Betty believed her then-70-year-old husband was suffering from early onset dementia and that the marriage was a plot by his new bride to get in his will.

Reese and husband Jim attended an emergency hearing at a Tennessee court to decide whether her father should be placed in a conservatorship, which means he would be deemed legally unable to take care of himself.

"This is a daughter who wants to help her parents, particularly her father," explained their family attorney, Andra Hedrick.

Reese and Jim, 42, were in Georgia in April while the actress was filming "The Good Lie." At 12:40 a.m. on the 19th, Officer J. Pyland noticed the couple's rented vehicle weaving across the marked lanes of Peachtree Road. After pulling them over, Pyland says Reese, 37, disobeyed orders to stay in the car while he performed a field sobriety test on Jim.

After she refused to return to the vehicle, she was handcuffed and arrested. She then said: "Do you know my name? You're about to find out who I am."

Reese issued a public apology the following day.

SHARON'S DEADLY WARNING TO OZZY

Osbournes in crisis OVER HIS DRUG & BOOZE BINGES

"YOU'RE killing yourself!"

With those shocking words, Sharon Osbourne walked out on her 30-year marriage to madman rocker Ozzy – finally sickened by his out-of-control drug use.

Although the Black Sabbath frontman recently revealed he has been sober for several weeks, his recent 18-month relapse – which followed 10 years of clean living – has sent Sharon over the edge.

THE TWO HAVE BEEN living apart for more than three weeks, and some sources believe the marriage may not survive.

Up until recently, "Ozzy was up to his old ways, gobbling down a bunch of pills and then chasing them with bottles of booze, beer, brandy, you name it," revealed a source. Insiders say the rocker was taking up to 300 pills a week and downing bottles of hard liquor as he battled depression over band mate Tony Iommi's battle with cancer and son Jack's diagnosis with multiple sclerosis.

Son Jack has been diagnosed with MS

Ozzy, 64, took to Facebook to address his spectacular fall off the wagon, posting on April 15: "For the last year and a half I have been drinking and taking drugs.

"I was in a very dark place and was an a to the people I love most, my family."

He also went on to insist that he and Sharon are not divorcing and that he's "just trying to be a better person."

According to the source, Ozzy moved out into a rented house and Sharon is staying at The Beverly Hills

MARRIAGE MISERY

BEHIND REESE'S DRINKING

This isn't the first time the mom of three has been overwhelmed by family problems.

In 2002, her brother John was charged with aggravated burglary and sexual battery in Nashville after he allegedly entered a neighbor's home and tried to undress her as she slept.

The actress has two children – daughter Ava, 13, and son Deacon, 9 – with ex-husband Ryan Phillippe. They divorced in 2007, and she married agent Toth in 2011. She gave birth to a baby boy, Tennessee, in September.

"Reese feels she has the weight of the world on her shoulders, and she started drinking alcohol as a release," added the source.

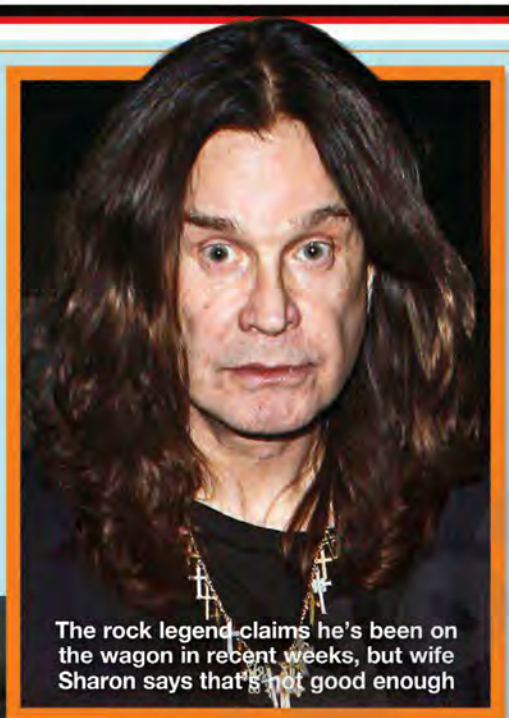
Reese and Jim were pulled over after a cop found them weaving across lanes in Georgia



The rock legend claims he's been on the wagon in recent weeks, but wife Sharon says that's not good enough

Hotel while she prepares to move into another home.

Not long after their split, Sharon spent a long weekend in Cabo San Lucas, Mexico. While she was there, "Ozzy texted her constantly," said the source.

"Sharon told Ozzy that it's all well and good for him to be a month and a half sober, but she won't go back to him until he's on the wagon for at least three or four months.

"In the meantime, she's been spotted out without a wedding ring."

SHARON, 60, HAS STUCK BY OZZY IN TOUGH TIMES before. In 2003, he claimed that he was overprescribed a host of powerful antipsychotic and tranquilizing drugs, which lead to a massive 42-pill-per-day habit. He later said that he was also prescribed Valium, Dexedrine, Mysoline, among other narcotics.

This time, Sharon decided she'd had enough.

"She was convinced that Ozzy was killing himself, and she couldn't stand by and watch him do it any longer," the source added.

"She didn't want to move out, but she felt she had no choice. Her tough-love stance has probably saved Ozzy's life."

LA TOYA'S 'REALITY' SHOW IS PHONY

She's supposedly searching for love – BUT ALREADY HAS A BEAU

La Toya didn't have enough material for a full season of "Life with La Toya," so she made up a bogus story line

LA TOYA JACKSON has launched her own reality show "Life with La Toya" – but sources say there's nothing "real" about it!

The 56-year-old entertainer claims she's looking for love on the OWN series, even though family friends say she's already in a longtime relationship with her manager, Jeffre Phillips.

"La Toya didn't have enough material to fill 10 episodes, so she decided to pretend she's looking for a boyfriend," a show insider told The ENQUIRER.

"But she's been with Jeffre for years. He's featured on the show as La Toya's 'business partner and close friend,' but everyone who knows them personally knows they're in a relationship. The series will show her on several 'dates,' but they're not real. Jeffre is going along with it because he wants the show to be a success."

During the series' opening episode, La Toya chats with her BFF Kathy Hilton, party-hearty socialite Paris Hilton's mom, about her abusive relationship with her late ex-husband and manager, Jack Gordon.

Late ex-hubby Jack Gordon

LA TOYA AND JACK DIVORCED IN 1997, but she has claimed the marriage was never consummated.

On "Life with La Toya," she claims that as a Jehovah's Witness, she's never really dated. But reports have linked her to Liza Minnelli's ex-husband David Gest, rock and roll legend Chuck Berry, the late singer Bobby DeBarge and R&B crooner Howard Hewett.

"La Toya is trying to make her show a hit," said the source. "But she should be honest with her fans so they don't tune her out."

The comedian strolling the streets of NYC with wife Tracey and kids Nathan and Maggie

Jon Stewart's DAILY CHORES

Comedy star HOOKED ON HOUSEWORK

LATE-NIGHT funnyman Jon Stewart has morphed into his idol Martha Stewart – and turned into a domestic diva!

The "Daily Show" host, 50, and his wife Tracey are parents to Nathan, 8, and Maggie, 7, and he's hijacked her household chores.

"Jon's become a master homemaker and primary caregiver of their kids – and he loves it," said a close friend of the witty Comedy Central star.

"He picks up the towels and linens, cooks and does most of the cleaning himself. He enjoys playing the role of housewife."

STEWART IS SO FINICKY THAT HE EVEN GIVES THE family maid instructions, said the source.

"Jon is constantly either showing her how to do things or doing it himself," revealed the friend. "He even tells her what detergent and dishwashing soap to use.

"Tracey usually just rolls her eyes at him, but she does admit that sometimes Jon's obsession with the family's domestic arrangements gets out of hand."

Meanwhile, Stewart has hosted his domestic goddess namesake on "The Daily Show" several times, and it's no surprise that he's morphed into a Martha clone, said the source.

"Jon jokes that when he changed his surname from Leibowitz to Stewart, it was in honor of Martha," said the source. "And he ranted against her receiving a jail sentence while Wall Street bankers never have a fear about insider trading.

"Like Martha, he's incredibly hands-on at home. Jon just really loves helping out around the house."

John Boehner's DAUGHTER MARRYING A POTHEAD

Lindsay Boehner

John Boehner is anti-drugs

Drug-bust shame of House Speaker's family

Dominic Lakhan was busted for marijuana possession in 2006

OFFICIAL ARREST DOCUMENT

TALK about a marriage going to pot!

U.S. House Speaker John Boehner is set to walk his daughter Lindsay down the aisle – but does he know his new son-in-law was busted for marijuana possession?

The ENQUIRER learned that Florida police arrested Lindsay's fiance, Dominic Lakhan, in Pembroke Pines back in 2006 after pulling him over for a traffic violation.

"Upon making contact with the driver," states the police report, "officer observed in plain view a 16 oz. Natural Lite beer can opened in the driver door.

"Officer also detected the odor of burnt cannabis emitting from the interior of the vehicle.

"A search of the vehicle revealed two bags containing approximately 2 grams of suspected cannabis... inside the center of the ashtray. Suspect admitted to the possession of the cannabis, stating that it was for personal use."

Jamaican-born Lakhan, who resembles reggae legend Bob Marley, was taken into custody and charged with misdemeanor possession.

He wouldn't comment to The ENQUIRER on the bust or his wedding plans, but the House Speaker's wife Debbie has been arranging details for the South Florida ceremony. The Boehners' other daughter Tricia, 32, wed in 2011.

Lindsay and Lakhan are registered at Macy's and Williams-Sonoma and are looking for typical household goods. "There's no hookahs or rolling paper holders," said an insider, "although they are registered for nonstick bakeware that would be good for baking some hash brownies!"

LAKHAN'S PAST PROBABLY won't sit well with Boehner, a devout Catholic, who voted to ban medical marijuana in Washington, D.C., and voted for funds to help Mexico fight the war on drugs.

"I'm sure this news about his future son-in-law's pot bust will catch John by surprise, and with his no-nonsense stance on drugs, he won't be happy about it," said a D.C. insider.

Lakhan, a 38-year-old construction worker from Delray Beach, Fla., will wed Lindsay, 35, on May 10 unless their plans go up in smoke.

THIS OFFICER CONDUCTED A TRAFFIC STOP ON THE ABOVE VEHICLE IN REFERENCE TO A TRAFFIC VIOLATION (1029-ERF). UPON MAKING CONTACT WITH THE DRIVER(LAKHAN) AT THE DRIVER DOOR THIS OFFICER OBSERVED IN PLAIN VIEW A 16OZ NATURAL LITE BEER CAN OPENED IN THE DRIVER DOOR. THIS OFFICER ALSO DETECTED THE ODOR OF BURNT CANNABIS EMITTING FROM THE INTERIOR OF THE VEHICLE.

Troubled 'Home Alone' star LASHES OUT

Macaulay GOES BERSERK!

– after Mila shuns his pleas to reunite

APRIL 16

After partying at a nightclub in Brighton, England, Mac lunged at a photographer, screaming at him and telling him to "go to hell"

MACAULAY CULKIN flipped out after being snubbed by his ex-lover Mila Kunis, and now friends fear the troubled actor is headed into another downward spiral!

"Mac made a play for Mila, but she blew him off," revealed an insider. "After she spurned his advances, he went berserk."

The former "Home Alone" star, 32, reached out to the "Ted" cutie, 29, while they were both in England recently, sources say.

Culkin wanted to rekindle their eight-year romance, even though Mila has been dating Ashton Kutcher, her co-star on the hit sitcom "That '70s Show," since April 2012, the sources add.

"MAC WAS DESPERATE TO hook up with Mila, and he saw this as his big chance," explained the insider.

Mila was in England making a movie called "Jupiter Ascending," and Ashton had yet to join her. "Mac thought it was a great opportunity until Mila deep-sixed the idea," continued the insider. "Now Mac's friends fear that he's so devastated he could wind up in another life-or-death situation."

Mila's brush-off boiled over when Culkin left a nightclub in Brighton, a seaside town in southeast England, in the early hours of April 16.

Reports say he lunged at a photographer as he walked over to a van, screaming at the shutterbug and telling him to "go to hell."

Culkin was also bizarrely dressed in Ray-Ban Wayfarer sunglasses and a scarf that covered up the lower part of his face, similar to a getup favored by his late pal Michael Jackson.

ENQUIRER EYEWITNESS REPORT
TRAGIC DOWNFALL OF CHILD STAR
'Home Alone' – AND DYING FROM DRUGS
Addicted to heroin & prescription meds, Macaulay Culkin has SIX MONTHS TO LIVE

In August 2012, we revealed Culkin's addiction to heroin and oxycodone

The "Richie Rich" star was in England to join the tour of his buddy Adam Green and his band "The Moldy Peaches." But he hardly looked like a star. During a stop in east London, one fellow clubgoer actually thought Culkin was homeless.

"We chatted for about five minutes and he said he was here visiting friends," recalled student Marley Spindler, who met Culkin outside the Village Underground, a multipurpose events warehouse for concerts and nightclubs.

"He was vacant, speaking very quietly and mellow. He looked spaced out. I didn't recognize him at first. I thought he was some homeless guy scrounging a smoke." As The ENQUIRER revealed in a bombshell world exclusive report in August 2012, sources said Culkin was hooked on heroin and the powerful prescription painkiller oxycodone.

Sources also revealed he was spending up to $6,000 a month on the dangerous painkillers Percocet and Vicodin, and that several months earlier he nearly suffered a drug overdose.

While his reps vehemently denied our report, our sources insist Culkin hasn't totally kicked his addictions.

"Mac's off the really hard stuff," said the insider. "But he still drinks, smokes pot and snorts coke."

A second source added: "His weird behavior and looking like a gutter rat in London doesn't bode well for Mac getting back on the straight and narrow."

The reality star was issued $598 worth of fines while driving her Bentley

WARNING, drivers! You better steer clear of highway horror Melissa Gorga – the "Real Housewives of New Jersey" star was slammed with five tickets at once.

Police recently pulled over the 34-year-old road menace about three miles from her Montville, N.J., home and hit her with nearly $600 worth of tickets on a variety of charges.

MELISSA, SISTER-IN-LAW OF cast mate Teresa Giudice, was driving her flashy white Bentley through Boonton, N.J., when she was stopped, and she tried pleading with the officer to give her a break.

"Melissa begged him to let her off with a warning, but he told her to just sit back and relax because writing all those tickets was going to take a while," an eyewitness told The ENQUIRER.

The mother of three, who joined the "Housewives" cast in the show's third season, was written up for failure to use a child passenger restraint ($54), failure to exhibit insurance ID ($180), failure to have inspection ($130), display of unclear or indistinct license plates ($54) and failure to exhibit registration ($180) – for a grand total of $598.

The aspiring singer was also given an April 30 court date.

Melissa, who's won a reputation as a real scrapper on the show, vows to fight for justice.

"She's furious," said a family insider. "But she knew better than to argue with an officer on the street. Since she wasn't speeding or driving recklessly, she's hoping a judge will agree she was stopped for no reason and throw out the charges."

But New Jersey judges have a reputation for being tough, prompting the source to say that Melissa "should just pay up and fuhgeddaboutit."

In any case, the court battle should leave Melissa in fine fighting form when her Bravo series returns for its fifth season in June. by PATRICIA SHIPP

DUDES

Cross-dressing celebs don't skirt the issue

JIMMY FALLON & CHANNING TATUM
Boys will be boys? Not always! The "Late Night" host and the hunky "21 Jump Street" star played galpals in this colorful sketch.

FLASHBACKS...

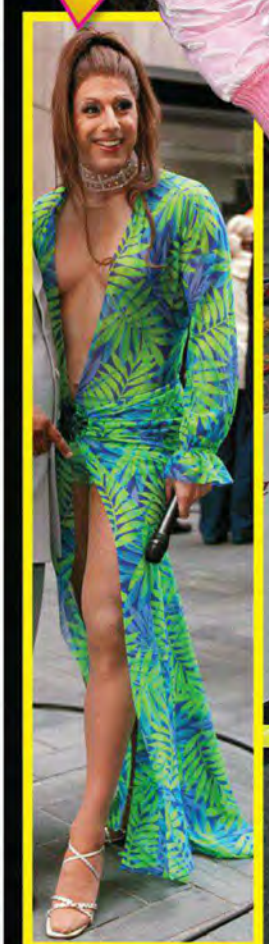
DUSTIN HOFFMAN
The Academy Award winner was a riot as a middle-age soap opera actress in "Tootsie."

KURT RUSSELL
Shades in place, the rugged actor went "undercover" in the cop film "Tango & Cash."

TOM HANKS & PETER SCOLARI
The two "Bosom Buddies" disguised themselves as women to move into a cheap ladies-only residence in their classic sitcom.

These celebs decided to catch the public eye by "playing dress-up" and vamping like the opposite sex. Sometimes it was for a comedy role, other times for a special occasion – and sometimes just to get a quick laugh. Clearly, some pull off the gender-bending shtick better than others.

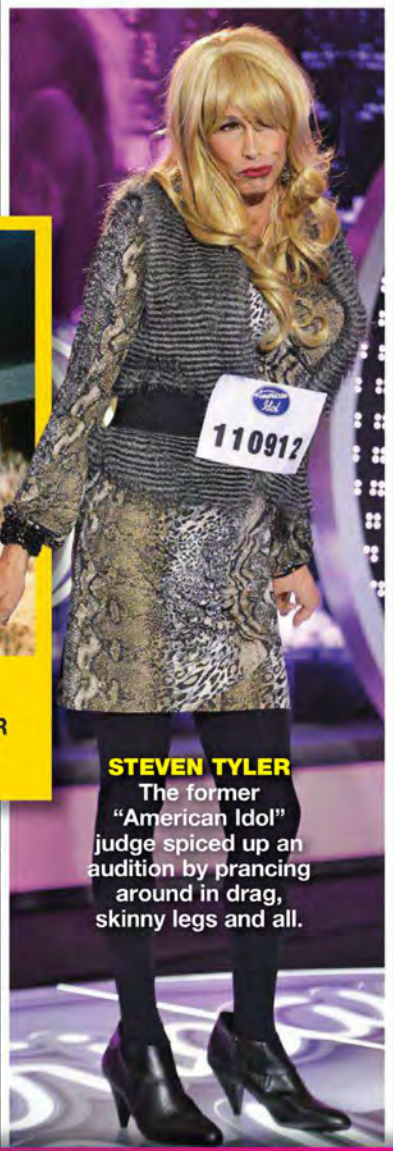
DAVID SPADE
What a bust! The funnyman was padded in all the right places – and even wore a belly button ring – in Adam Sandler's "Jack and Jill" comedy. Talk about throwing everyone a curve.



MATT LAUER
Baring more than a bit of skin, the "Today" host celebrated Halloween on his show by going drag from head to toe and displaying his shapely legs in 2004 (right), and did his best J.Lo impersonation in 2000. Say Matt, do blondes really have more fun?

N DRAG

JOHN TRAVOLTA
It may seem like "Pulp Fiction," but the actor cross-dressed for "Hairspray" and, as The ENQUIRER revealed, shocked guests at an L.A. party in 1997 by showing up in drag and talking in a squeaky voice.



STEVEN TYLER
The former "American Idol" judge spiced up an audition by prancing around in drag, skinny legs and all.

JUSTIN TIMBERLAKE
The handsome babe magnet really stuck his neck out in this blindingly mismatched outfit for a "Saturday Night Live" skit.

ZACH BRAFF
Desperate to land a job, his character masqueraded as a girl and found work as a chambermaid in "My Summer as a Girl."

JARED LETO
Oh, no…a ripped stocking! The dressed-to-kill actor learned the perils of high fashion in "The Dallas Buyers Club."

MATT LEBLANC
The perfectly accessorized former "Friends" star went heavy on the lipstick for "All the Queen's Men," a World War II action comedy.

GIRLS JUST WANNA BE GUYS

MILEY CYRUS
"Hannah Montana" channeled her inner Justin Bieber for a skit on "Saturday Night Live."

MARGARET CHO
The tough-talking bisexual comedian rocked "30 Rock" with her perfect impersonation of late North Korean leader Kim Jong-il.

Ask the Vet

WITH DR. JEFF LACROIX

Owning a pet can be a rewarding – but often puzzling – experience. ENQUIRER columnist, top veterinarian Dr. Jeff LaCroix, answers the toughest questions about your four-legged friends.

HOW CAN WE AVOID HOOKWORMS?

Q. I manage the dog park for our city. We've recently experienced an unexpected problem – several dog owners who frequent the park have gotten hookworm dermatitis. How can we combat this problem?

A. Hookworm infections in humans occur when the larvae penetrate into the superficial layers of the skin. They typically give rise to lesions that become intensely itchy. They generally go away on their own as the larvae die, but the itching and possibility of secondary infection make treatment necessary in many cases. Hookworms in dogs infect their intestinal tract. It's a fairly common problem, especially in southern states. Owners can easily prevent it by giving their dogs heartworm medications, which also protect against hookworm. Clearing these parasites from your dog park is not possible without replacing the entire top layer of soil. Since that's not practical, you can take precautionary measures by providing poop bags and a place to deposit them. You should also post signs to educate patrons of the problem, provide a place for them to wash their hands and let everyone know not to walk around the park barefooted.

HOW CAN WE GET OUR CAT TO EAT MORE?

Q. We have an older cat that's lost a fair amount of weight. After a battery of tests, our vet ruled out chronic diseases such as diabetes, kidney failure and cancer. We are now faced with finding a way to make her eat more and could use some suggestions.

A. Some cats are naturally picky eaters and you'll have to do some experimenting with different types of food. Finding foods that your cat likes is more important than creating a balanced diet. There are many canned cat foods on the market – try any and all. If one loses favor, try another. Many pet stores have refrigerated cat foods that more closely mimic a natural feline diet. Add oil or the water from canned tuna, and also heat the food. Cat's noses, like ours, respond to warmed food's aromas. If nothing works, drugs that stimulate the appetite are available. Many veterinarians favor one called mirtazapine.

HOW RELIABLE IS INTERNET PET INFO?

Q. We consider ourselves conscientious pet owners and are always checking on the Internet to see if the products and medications our animals need can cause any harm. Invariably, someone somewhere claims that the item in question killed their pet. Why is this and how do we know what to trust?

A. People often blame the death of a beloved pet on a product they used, and the testimonies you find on the Internet can be quite convincing based on the specific anecdotal evidence presented. But these are far from reliable and, in some cases, may even be posted by a competitor. I would view all of these warnings with skepticism unless the website is a reliable source, such as the American Veterinary Medical Association or Veterinary Information Network.

Captured fiend's SECRET PERVERSIONS

Hooked on PORN & DRUGS!

BOSTON bomber Dzhokhar "Jahar" Tsarnaev was hiding more from his friends and college classmates than a desire to kill innocent Americans. He was a major pothead with an addiction to pornography.

The ENQUIRER has learned the mop-topped 19-year-old and self-avowed Muslim was frequently stoned out of his mind and surfed the Internet porn sites, incessantly seeking sex videos of his favorite types of women – busty women!

A FRIEND FROM HIGH SCHOOL SAID that while Jahar tried to portray himself as "a very firm Muslim," he displayed little evidence of his religious convictions.

"Jahar loved to party with cocaine and smoked a lot of marijuana," the friend revealed.

"He would also drink a lot and was an Internet porn addict,

Jahar was known to frequent this strip club

visiting sites with free videos where he would find X-rated clips of busty beauties and play the videos over and over again."

Jahar became obsessed with busty girls after escorting a well-endowed date to his high school prom. He often commented about how she was stacked, a friend said.

DEAD BOMBER WAS CHEATER & WOMAN BEATER

PLUS! What his wife knows

THE American wife of suspected Boston Marathon bomber Tamerlan Tsarnaev fell completely under his spell, sources say – and now sources believe he may have duped her into hiding his role in the bloody attack!

While the FBI continues to probe what Katherine Russell Tsarnaev knew about the bombing, The ENQUIRER has uncovered a secret arrest in the 24-year-old widow's past that may be linked to her evil bomb-planting husband.

"Tamerlan had an iron-clad grip on Katherine," a friend in her native Rhode Island told The ENQUIRER. "He turned her from an innocent all-American girl into a terrorist bride. It was like he brainwashed her! She must have known something about his activities before the marathon, and now she may unwittingly be hiding information that's vital to national security – after all they have a 2-year-old child!"

Tamerlan Tsarnaev was busted for assault and battery

OFFICIAL MUG SHOT

WHILE KATHERINE'S attorney Amato DeLuca insists she knew nothing about the bomb plot, the FBI scoured video of the marathon and showed her picture to witnesses, according to reports.

Meanwhile, The ENQUIRER has conducted an exhaustive investigation of Katherine's background, and discovered that while she reportedly met Tsarnaev as a Suffolk University student in Boston, she was already claiming to be married in 2007!

According to an arrest report obtained by The ENQUIRER, then-18-year-old Katherine and an underage girlfriend were busted for shoplifting over $67 worth of items from an Old Navy store in a mall in Warwick, R.I., on June 26, 2007.

The police report lists Katherine as "married," even though she used her maiden name and gave her address as her parent's home in North Kingstown, R.I.

Records show Katherine was given a court summons for misdemeanor shoplifting, but the charge was dismissed after she paid a $200 fine and completed community service.

HIDING IN BOAT

HE FINALLY SURRENDERS

GOTCHA!

These dramatic photos reveal the moments when police cornered and captured Jahar in the backyard of a residence in Watertown, Mass.

Dartmouth, said they'd definitely seen him several times in the club, where 40 girls dance and entertain men in private VIP rooms.

Ryland Stevens, a sophomore and college classmate of Jahar at UMass Dartmouth, lived one floor above the terror suspect at the Pine Dale Hall dorm. Stevens said Jahar was a major partier who "smoked a lot of pot."

"I've seen him smoke weed on several different occasions, and he always looked very high and spaced out whenever I'd see him," said Stevens. The ENQUIRER has also learned that Jahar appeared to be as "high as a kite" when he was on the run from police. Auto mechanic Gilberto Junior, owner of Junior Auto Body, Inc., in Somerville, Mass., came face to face with Jahar less than 24 hours after the bombings and says he was certain "(Jahar) was on drugs" when he showed up at his shop.

Jahar seemed desperate to pick up a white Mercedes station wagon he'd dropped off a few weeks before with a damaged rear bumper. He'd said the car belonged to a girlfriend.

DEAD BOMBER WAS CHEATER & WOMAN BEATER

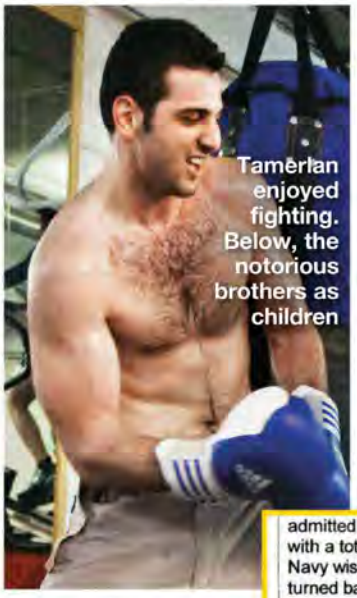
"Katherine didn't need to shoplift those items," the source told The ENQUIRER. "It appears Tamerlan recruited her to do it as a test of her loyalty to him."

THE ENQUIRER HAS ALSO LEARNED Tamerlan dragged Katherine into an ugly love triangle that ended with a violent domestic assault. According to court documents, police responded to a domestic incident at Tamerlan's residence in Cambridge, Mass., on July 28, 2009. The victim, identified as 22-year-old Nadine Ascencao, "called 911 on her cell phone, indicating she was beat up by her boyfriend...and was crying hysterically," according to the document.

Ascencao told police that she was yelling at her boyfriend – identified as Tamerlan Tsarnaev – "because of another girl." Reports say it was Russell. When officers asked Tsarnaev if he'd hit Ascencao, "he stated, 'Yes, I slapped her,'" the report said.



Tamerlan enjoyed fighting. Below, the notorious brothers as children

Tsarnaev was arrested for assault and battery, but records show the charges were later dismissed for lack of prosecution.

Katherine reportedly converted to Islam for Tsarnaev, and had been working 70 to 80 hours a week as a home health aide while he cared for their daughter Zahara, 2. She's now staying with her parents – dad Warren, 55, an emergency room physician, and mom Judith, 56, a nurse – in their colonial-style, two-story $400,000 Rhode Island home.

"Now that Tamerlan is dead, I hope that Katherine will tell authorities everything she knows about him and his brother," said the source. "For her family's sake, I pray that she didn't have any direct knowledge of the bombing."

admitted to the shoplifting and the items were recovered. Seven items were recovered from Crawford with a total value of $125 and five items were recovered from Russell with a total value of $67. Old Navy wishes to press charges for the charges. The goods were photographed on the scene and turned back over to loss prevention.

Both Russell and Crawford were placed in handcuffs. They were transported to headquarters for processing. Off. Maggiacomo placed them in the custody of Jailer Disano. The officer completed all the necessary checks and paperwork. Russell was issued a district court summons and advised to appear at the Kent County Courthouse to answer to the charge of shoplifting 11-41-20. Junior said Tsarnaev often brought in cars for wealthy friends from Boston University and MIT, and always paid in cash. What was strange was that Jahar showed up the day after the bombings wanting the car back early, clearly on edge.

"He was very nervous, biting his nails, agitated," Junior said. "I thought he was on drugs, medication." Junior didn't report it to police. Tsarnaev took the Mercedes without having it fixed. The Mercedes was not the car that the Tsarnaev brothers were in when cops cornered them in Watertown, killing Jahar's brother Tamerlan, while Jahar sped off, running over his brother. He later ditched the vehicle and escaped on foot.

JUNIOR SAID THAT WHEN JAHAR demanded the station wagon back, he wasn't dressed in his usual clothes. He was wearing Louis Vuitton sneakers and Burberry jeans, and his hair was shorter than he'd seen it before. "When I later heard what he did I felt like I was going to pass out," said Junior. "I was overcome by emotions, but mainly anger and sadness."

Two days after the bombings, Jahar seemed more relaxed, according to students who attended a party where the killer-on-the-run showed up.

In postings on his Twitter account, Jahar made references to the horror he had unleashed, calling one report about a fatality, a "fake story." In another post, he stated: "I'm a stress free kind of guy."

Not anymore. He's been charged with using a weapon of mass destruction that rocked the nation and now faces the death penalty.

ENQUIRER EXCLUSIVE

JODI ARIAS GOES 'PSYCHO'

Twisted killer reveals how movie shower scene sparked killing

WAS accused killer Jodi Arias inspired by the Alfred Hitchcock movie "Psycho"?

A TV news show recently raised that question by comparing the brutal murder of Arias' ex-boyfriend to the iconic shower scene in "Psycho." But The ENQUIRER has discovered that the twisted temptress is claiming that her alleged victim was the one with a "Psycho" fixation!

On national news network HLN's "After Dark," crime experts noted parallels between the Hitchcock classic and the vicious stabbing of Arias' ex-beau, Travis Alexander. Chillingly, they pointed out how photos the brunette vixen snapped of Alexander in the shower moments before his death are eerily similar to the movie scene in which Janet Leigh's character is brutally slaughtered by a knife-wielding lunatic.

BUT IN A BOOK ARIAS IS PENNING behind bars, The ENQUIRER has discovered, she claims that Alexander had a sick fascination with the Hitchcock movie – and it sparked the killing that now has her on trial for murder in Phoenix, Ariz.

An insider who has visited Arias in Phoenix's Estrella jail reveals the deadly beauty is writing her story in longhand on legal pads. In it, the source says, Arias claims it was Alexander's idea to bring a knife into the bathroom where the fatal attack originated.

"Jodi said that Travis wanted to recreate the famous scene from 'Psycho,'" revealed the insider. "She claims he was sexually aroused by the idea of a naked woman being attacked in a shower, but when he started roughing her up, things got out of hand.

"If not for that, she says the knife she used never would have been in the bathroom to begin with."

The bloody bathroom sink at the crime scene. Below that, a source says a sick fascination with the film "Psycho" played a part in Travis' death

CHILLING CONFESSION

"When he started roughing her up, things got out of hand"

Former blonde Jodi with doomed boyfriend Travis

Arias is facing the death penalty for Alexander's gruesome 2008 murder. She admits to stabbing the devout Mormon multiple times, shooting him in the head and slitting his throat so viciously he was nearly decapitated. She claims she was abused and acted in self-defense.

Despite overwhelming evidence against her, Arias remains confident she'll be acquitted. And to finance her life outside of prison, she's hoping to cash in with a best-selling book. It's similar to the plan of O.J. Simpson, who hoped to reap big bucks with his book "If I Did It," a thinly veiled account of the murder of his ex-wife.

MEANWHILE, SOURCES SAY SHE'S already cashing in with pals who are helping Arias rake in up to $3,000 apiece for drawings she made on a legal pad during her trial by selling them online.

In another bombshell revelation, Arias also claims that she got pregnant by Travis but lost the baby – and his reaction devastated her.

"He was so coldhearted about it she felt as though HE had stabbed HER in the heart," noted the insider. "She says it killed her to see how he could turn against her and treat her so horribly."

Incredibly, Arias has big plans for the future. As The ENQUIRER previously reported, she wants to run off with her jailhouse lesbian lover, have a baby via IVF and move to Europe.

"Jodi wants to be free, have fun and enjoy the rest of her life after being locked up for five years," said the insider. "And she figures that writing a best-seller will help her to achieve that goal."

Blake was acquitted of the murder of Bonny Lee Bakley, who was gunned down in his car outside an L.A. restaurant in 2001

ROBERT BLAKE FINALLY PAYS FOR WIFE'S MURDER

'Baretta' star DISHES OUT BIG BUCKS IN WRONGFUL DEATH SUIT

ROBERT BLAKE may have been acquitted of murdering his late wife Bonny Lee Bakley, but the former "Baretta" star is finally paying for her death!

Twelve years after Bakley was gunned down in a parked car outside a Los Angeles restaurant, the wrongful death lawsuit filed by her children has been settled – and The ENQUIRER has learned that her four kids will each receive approximately $500,000.

Although Blake was found not guilty of killing Bakley in his sensational 2005 criminal trial, her children followed up with a civil lawsuit – and won. A jury awarded them $30 million, but Blake appealed. In 2008, an appeals court upheld the verdict but cut the award in half.

While the exact amount of the settlement has not been officially disclosed, it is believed to be about $2 million in total – way less than the $15 million previously awarded by the appeals court. Still, Bonny's children are thrilled with the outcome. "Finally, it has been settled," a source told The ENQUIRER. "This case dragged on for over a decade.

"ALL OF BONNY'S KIDS HAVE struggled financially since she died, and they finally will receive what was coming to them."

Blake, 79, the former Little Rascal and star of "In Cold Blood," who filed for bankruptcy in 2006, confirmed to The ENQUIRER that there had been a settlement, but refused to discuss it further.

"No one is talking about the exact amount," said the source. "Obviously, they have agreed to keep the amount of the settlement private, but all the kids are going to come into some money soon."

Bakley, 44, was a scam artist who was married at least 10 times and made her living hustling men. She married Blake in 2000, five months after their daughter Rose's birth. She initially claimed the child she was carrying had been fathered by Marlon Brando's son Christian, but DNA tests proved otherwise.

IT WAS A SCAM BAKLEY HAD worked before. She once claimed that her third child – a girl she named Jeri Lee – was the daughter of rocker Jerry Lee Lewis, which he denied. Jeri Lee, 19, changed her name to Deborah and today lives with her father, Paul Gawron, in Memphis.

Bonny's two eldest children – Holly Lee Gawron, 32, and Glenn Paul Gawron, 33 – also live in Tennessee. Twelve-year-old Rose lives with the actor's daughter Delinah.

"I am firmly convinced that Robert Blake murdered Bonny and got away with it, no matter what the courts said," Bonny's sister, Margerry Bakley Smith, told The ENQUIRER. "Now, he finally has to pay for her death."

BRAINY WAY to conquer addictions

The future of drug addiction treatment might be as simple as flipping an on/off switch in the brain.

Using a laser beam, scientists were able to stimulate a key part of the brain in cocaine-addicted rats – reducing their compulsive, drug-seeking behavior.

Astonishingly, when they used the laser technique on nonaddicted rats, it increased their desire for cocaine.

"This exciting study offers a new direction of research for the treatment of cocaine and possibly other addictions," says National Institute on Drug Abuse Director Dr. Nora D. Volkow. The government is planning human studies which will use electromagnetic stimulation – and not lasers – on the brain.

GET HOOKED ON FISH

Fish lovers, take heart. Older adults who have high blood levels of omega-3 fatty acids – mostly found in fatty fish and seafood – may lower their risk of dying from heart disease by up to 35 percent, say Harvard researchers.

The new study examined 16 years of health data from about 2,700 patients 65 and older and found that those with the highest blood levels of the fatty acids lived an average of 2.2 years longer than those with lower levels. What's more, omega-3 levels climbed most when people went from no intake of fatty fish – such as salmon, tuna, sardines and trout – to a modest amount, about two servings a week.

"The findings suggest that the biggest bang-for-your-buck is for going from no intake to modest intake, or about two servings of fatty fish per week," says Harvard School of Public Health professor Dr. Dariush Mazaffarian.

Breakthrough CANCER THERAPY

Researchers are excited about a new form of radiation therapy that in initial studies appears to put cancer into remission without harmful side effects.

"Since the 1930s, scientists have sought success with a cancer treatment known as boron neutron capture therapy," says University of Missouri professor M. Frederick Hawthorne, whose team used cancer cell biology to make BNCT a viable treatment.

The expert says the technique is capable of attacking a wide variety of cancers.

Initial studies were successful on mice, but the team is ready to move on to larger animals. Additional funding will be needed to start human studies.

Good news for DIABETICS

The Food and Drug Administration has approved a remarkable, first-of-its-kind medication that improves blood sugar control in adults with Type 2 diabetes.

The drug Invokana should be used with diet and exercise to manage blood sugar levels in order to prevent serious side effects caused by diabetes, such as heart disease, blindness, and nerve and kidney damage.

The new drug works by blocking reabsorption of sugar by the kidneys.

Next stop after ER – YOUR DOC

Even if the emergency room clears you following an episode of chest pain, make sure to see your doctor for follow-up care – it could save your life!

Researchers analyzed data from nearly 57,000 chest pain sufferers who were not hospitalized by ER doctors despite having heart disease or diabetes.

They found that those who went to cardiologists within a month of their ER visits were 21 percent less likely to have a heart attack or die within one year, compared to patients who did not.

"Being discharged from the emergency department is reassuring for patients, but it is critical that they follow up with their doctor to reduce their risks of future heart attacks or premature death," cautions cardiologist Dr. Dennis T. Ko of Toronto's Sunnybrook Health Sciences Centre.

A Life Without 'Belly Fat'

How One Woman Overcomes Tragedy and Creates the Life She's Always Wanted – By Tiffany Strobel*

Mindy DeForest's wake-up call about her weight problem was heartbreaking and profound: her sister died of colon cancer. "My sister was overweight, and I knew that being overweight myself put me more at risk for all sorts of health issues," she says. "I knew something had to change."

At 208 pounds, Mindy was the heaviest she'd ever been. Even having children hadn't caused her to gain so much weight, but the stress of caring for and eventually losing her sister, as well as being in an unhappy marriage, had caused her weight to balloon. "I'm a total stress eater," she says. "I kept turning to food for emotional reasons, and I was really putting on weight."

Like most people, Mindy had tried dieting in the past. Over the course of ten years she tried Weight Watchers, Body for Life, ephedra... pretty much everything. But unfortunately, nothing was working for her.

Mindy decided to try losing weight one more time, so she began working with a personal trainer. It didn't take long before her trainer realized that a big part of her weight-gain issues revolved around stress eating, so he recommended she try a product called Relacore®.

"He told me it was a 'belly fat' pill that could help me feel less stressed, give me energy, and improve my mood," Mindy says. She admits she was pessimistic after having tried so many products that hadn't worked in the past, but says, "My trainer really believed in it, so I agreed to give it a try."

It didn't take long before Mindy was convinced of Relacore's effectiveness. "I really noticed a difference in my mood. I was in the process of getting divorced and was worried I'd suffer from depression, but Relacore made a huge difference for me. I never felt down. I stopped my 'nervous' eating. And I could really tell from my mood when I missed a day, so I knew it was doing something for me."

Before long, the inches started dropping off, and Mindy's entire life began to change. "My self-esteem went through the roof. I started getting job offers, and I felt like for the first time in years, people were paying attention to me. When I was overweight it was like I just blended into the background, but then I started getting thin and all of a sudden people were noticing me." But then Mindy hit the dreaded "weight-loss plateau" and almost gave up on ever reaching her goal...

until her trainer recommended a second product: Zantrex®-3 High Energy Fat Burner. "He told me it could help me get past my plateau and start losing again," Mindy says, "and I'd had so much success with Relacore that I didn't hesitate to try it."

Mindy added Zantrex to her Relacore/diet and exercise regimen, and it gave her the extra boost she needed to blow through her plateau and start dropping even more weight.

"With help from Relacore and Zantrex, I've lost 55 pounds, and I'm still going. I haven't been this thin since my twenties. I just bought a new skirt, and when I was trying it on it felt so amazing to keep telling the store clerk to bring me a smaller size. I ended up buying a size 2. It was awesome. I couldn't believe it."

But for Mindy, the greatest accomplishment isn't being able to fit into a size 2. "It's knowing that I really had the power to change my life. When I was overweight, I was miserable. But now everyone around me can see the difference losing weight has made not just in my physical appearance, but in everything. I have energy, I'm positive, I'm outgoing. My whole outlook on life has changed. I'm just so happy."

Heard about "Combo-Pilling"?

The highly controversial practice of Combo-Pilling is truly an underground phenomenon. Odds are, if you know someone who's losing lots of weight, and losing it fast, you probably know someone who's Combo-Pilling... like Mindy D. Why? Because it allows people to attack multiple facets of weight loss – like dropping fat, overcoming stress eating, and having enough energy to work out – all at the same time. According to the Internet, the most popular Combo-Pilling duo is Zantrex and Relacore. You can find them both at Wal•Mart, Walgreens, Rite-Aid, CVS, and GNC, or order them separately from Zantrex-3 at Zantrex3.com (1-800-373-0317) Relacore at Relacore.com (1-800-600-9513) or at TryComboPilling.com.

The Amazing Race (Season Finale)

Sunday, May 5, 8 p.m. ET, CBS

They've traversed almost 30,000 miles through nine countries over five continents in the hunt for the coveted $1 million cash prize. Tonight, one of the final four teams will claim it, but not before they and their competition go bog snorkelling in Belfast, Ireland, where one team will be eliminated. Next, the final three teams end their race in Washington, D.C., where they search high and low through some of our nation's most historic landmarks for the clues to get to the finish line in this fun and hectic two-hour season finale.

Rihanna 777 (World Premiere Event)

Monday, May 6, 8 p.m. ET, FOX

Rihanna

Do you love international superstar Rihanna, and is seven your lucky number? Then you've got two great reasons to watch this exclusive behind-the-scenes concert documentary that covers Rihanna's seven-country tour, via a 777 jet loaded with fans and journalists, in seven days to promote her seventh album, "Unapologetic." The cameras were constantly rolling the whole time, capturing stunning performances by Rihanna of her new songs and greatest hits, including "Stay" in Mexico City, Toronto, Stockholm, Paris, Berlin, London and New York City, plus all the backstage chaos and glamour of a Rihanna tour. The result is a genuine treat for Rihanna fans.

New Girl (Season Finale)

Tuesday, May 7, 9 p.m. ET, FOX

It's the day of Cece's (Hannah Simone) wedding (with Taylor Swift playing a wedding guest). And that makes it the perfect time for Jess (Zooey Deschanel) and Nick (Jake Johnson) to debate taking their relationship to the next level, despite protests from Jess' dad (guest star Rob Reiner). Meanwhile, Schmidt (Max Greenfield) decides that Cece shouldn't get married and drafts practical joker supreme, Winston (Lamorne Morris) to sabotage the elaborate Indian affair. How would be telling, but it involves an angry badger. Yet the prank pales in comparison with a shocking announcement in this laugh-out-loud, surprise-packed season-ender.

Zooey Deschanel and Jake Johnson

Sherry Stringfield and Katie Leclerc

Beverly Lewis' The Confession (Made-for-TV Movie Premiere)

Saturday, May 11, 9 p.m. ET, Hallmark Channel

Long-kept secrets, stunning revelations and a case of mistaken identity fuel this bittersweet mother/daughter story based on the second book in Beverly Lewis' "The Heritage of Lancaster County" series. When young Amish woman Katie Lapp (Katie Leclerc, "Switched at Birth") is shunned by her Lancaster community, she tracks down her long-lost biological mother – wealthy, generous and terminally ill socialite Laura Mayfield-Bennett (Sherry Stringfield, "ER"). But upon arriving at the estate, Katie is mistaken for a maid and discovers that Laura's greedy, gambling-addicted husband (Adrian Paul) has hired an actress to impersonate her in a scheme to snatch her inheritance. Will Laura learn the truth before it's too late? Julia Whelan also stars.

Blake Shelton HAS MAN CRUSH ON USHER – and wife Miranda Lambert COULDN'T BE HAPPIER!

COUNTRY superstar Miranda Lambert is doing a happy dance now that hubby Blake Shelton has ended his bromance with fellow "Voice" mentor Adam Levine to pal around with Usher!

Blake and Adam grew close during the first three seasons of the hit NBC show, but now that Usher and Shakira have joined the cast – replacing Christina Aguilera and Cee Lo Green – their relationship appears to be falling apart.

Cast of "The Voice"

And that's just fine with Miranda – because she's always thought the 34-year-old Maroon 5 frontman was a bad influence on her husband.

"ADAM AND BLAKE DID A LOT OF carousing around Los Angeles (where 'The Voice' is taped)," a friend said. "The two played hard and partied hard, and Blake would brag to Miranda about going over to Adam's house and seeing a bunch of models in bikinis hanging out by his pool.

"Miranda can't be in Los Angeles all the time with Blake since she's out touring – and the rumors about him flirting drove her crazy."

Meanwhile, Usher, 34, is a devoted single dad raising his two sons – Usher V, 5, and Naviyd, 4 – after a nasty custody battle with his ex-wife, Tameka Foster.

"Miranda wants kids someday, and she thinks Usher's a great role model for Blake," said the friend. "Usher is this hot and handsome guy who can be a dad and still be cool."

As "The Voice" moves into their live shows, Blake, 36, will be spending more time in Los Angeles, where Miranda won't be able to keep her eye on him.

"As far as she's concerned," said the friend, "the less time Blake spends with Adam and the more time he spends with Usher, the better." by ROGER HITTS

Easy does it, Jen

How refreshing to read that Jennifer Aniston forgave actors John Hawkes and Mos Def for that accidental punch to her jaw (Gossip with Mike Walker, April 1). She's a true professional. An egotistical, temperamental actress would have had them dismissed from the movie! – Jackie B., Sherman Oaks, Calif.

Way to go, Ryan

Congratulations to Ryan Seacrest for dumping Julianne Hough (Hard-Partying Julianne Too Wild for Ryan, April 1). He doesn't need an alcoholic blonde bimbo in his life. After seeing the photo of her hanging out of what little she had on, I think he did himself a favor. – Janet N., Buffalo, N.Y.

$50 Letter of the Week

Phil has 'Ducks' all in a row

Phil Robertson, patriarch of "Duck Dynasty," is the most down-to-earth man on TV. He tells it like it is ("Duck Dynasty" Marital Advice, March 25). The Robertson family has a multimillion-dollar empire but it hasn't gone to their heads. We could use more Robertsons in this world! – Nancy C., Ridgeville, Ind.

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

FORMER "L.A. Law" star Corbin Bernsen has asked fans to pray for his beloved mother, daytime soap opera legend Jeanne Cooper, who's fighting for her life at a Los Angeles hospital.

Sources tell The ENQUIRER that the 84-year-old "The Young and the Restless" star was admitted to L.A.'s Cedars-Sinai hospital on April 10 and took a turn for the worse two days later.

On April 12, actor/director Corbin, 58 – who's now on the TV show "Psych" – asked his Facebook followers for "some prayers for my mom." Without going into detail, he said the situation was "pretty rough."

The next day, he praised his mother's spirit in trying to rally, posting: "Suffice to say, the greatest boxers of all time aren't half the fighter she is."

> 'She seems to have nine lives'

Jeanne has been on "The Young and the Restless," daytime's No. 1 soap, since she joined the cast in November 1973, as the wealthy industrialist Katherine Chancellor.

"Jeanne's been working steadily with a major story line," said a source close to the actress. "Her character was just diagnosed with a tumor on her brain, but still works as the head of Chancellor Industries."

This isn't the first time in the past couple years that Jeanne has struggled with a severe illness, says the source. The actress had to take a medical leave from the show in 2011 when she had a bad bout with the flu.

"JEANNE STRUGGLED FOR THREE weeks and refused to go to the hospital with a 105 fever," the source said. "She made it through that time, and, like her TV character, she's always seemed to have nine lives.

"But now it appears she may have finally come to the end of the road.

"Friends from 'Y&R' have visited her bedside to say goodbye, from cast mates to crew.

"It's been heartbreaking. And it's been hardest of all on her son Corbin."

Bieber's broke grandparents old news to ENQUIRER readers

JUSTIN BIEBER's ailing, destitute grandfather has slammed the teen idol for ignoring him – but that was old news to ENQUIRER readers!

Back in November 2011, we reported the pop sensation was splurging on private jets, exotic vacations and pricey gifts – while his struggling grandparents George and Kathy Bieber were barely able to make ends meet.

In a bombshell world exclusive, we revealed that George – the biological father of Justin's father Jeremy – and his wife lived in a modest wood frame house in the small town of Mitchell, Ontario, Canada.

Teen pop star is a big spender but GIVES STRUGGLING GRANDPARENTS ZILCH

SOURCES TOLD THE ENQUIRER that the "Baby" singer had turned his back on the couple, even though they had lovingly cared for him as a child. Now 61-year-old George has told reporters that despite his grandson's estimated $110 million fortune, the "Biebs" doesn't help his grandparents out financially, hasn't come to visit them in years and apparently "doesn't care."

Once again, ENQUIRER readers were first to get the scoop!

Acts of kindness

All across the country, every day, good people perform acts of kindness for strangers. Only rarely do they receive recognition for their selfless work. In our ongoing series, The ENQUIRER will put the spotlight on those who care enough to make life better for those around them.

'Here in America, we live in a land of abundance...why not share'

Lisa Stewart is surrounded by a roomful of donations

THE STUFF OF DREAMS

Mom collects cuddly toys TO BRING JOY TO IMPOVERISHED KIDS

A little girl happily holds her fluffy bunny

AS hard as it may be to believe, millions of kids around the world have never experienced the simple childhood joy of owning, or even holding, a doll or stuffed animal.

But Lisa Stewart is out to change that. Last year, the bighearted mom of four founded a charity, Gifts for the Heart International, whose goal is to provide soft, stuffed toys for needy children all around the globe.

"Here in America, we live in a land of abundance," says Lisa, 35. "Kids have armfuls of stuffed animals they take for granted. But for these poverty-stricken kids overseas, living in mud huts and worse, it's the first stuffed animal they have ever touched.

"It brings a little furry friend for them to love and hold – a glimmer of hope to their poor, bleak lives."

LISA'S CRUSADE WAS INSPIRED by a book she saw while attending a school open house for one of her kids. The book, "Elizabeti's Doll" by Stephanie Stuve-Bodeen, tells the true tale of an impoverished little girl from Tanzania named Elizabeti.

"She doesn't have a doll or a stuffed animal, but she finds a rock to take care of," says Lisa. "In the last picture (of the book), she's shown sleeping with her rock."

Lisa decided to start her charity that same day.

"Knowing that kids around the world have barely enough to eat while we live in the land of plenty prompted me to get off my rear end and really do something about it, however small," she explains.

"My kids, like most in this country, are overloaded with stuffed animals of every description. Why not share these with others who can't even hope to have one, I thought. So I started speaking to schools and churches, urging kids and parents to donate to my charity so we could send stuffed animals to the little ones who will really appreciate them."

In the past year, Lisa has sent more than 1,200 stuffed animals to Haiti, Guatemala, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Bolivia and Thailand, but she hopes to eventually be able to send her "gifts for the heart" to kids on every continent.

Lisa, who lives with her husband, Josh, 36, and their four children in Bellingham, Wash., also has another goal.

"I discovered my mission was not only to send these gifts overseas," she says, "but to enlighten American kids about how lucky they are, and how fortunate they are to live in such an abundant country."

A group of Haitian kids smile after receiving their heartwarming gifts

Here's how you can help: Donations of stuffed animals or checks/money orders can be sent to Gifts for the Heart International, 4152 Meridian Street, Suite 105, PMB 129, Bellingham, WA 98226.
